

Universidade
de São Paulo

NATIONAL INSTITUTE FOR OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH
Division of the National Health Laboratory Service

Invitation to a Mini Symposium hosted by the Environment and Health Research Unit of the South African Medical Research Council in Collaboration with University of Johannesburg, National Institute for Occupational Health and University of Sao Paulo (Brazil)

TOXIC METAL EXPOSURE FROM LIVELIHOODS AND POTENTIAL HEALTH IMPLICATIONS

Date: Tuesday 13 December 2022

Time: 9h30-12h00

Venue: University of Johannesburg's Doornfontein Campus | Health Clinic Building| Second Floor| corner of Sherwell & Beit streets | Doornfontein | Johannesburg| Gauteng

AGENDA

09h00	09h30	Arrival / tea	Speaker
09h30	09h40	Welcome	Dr Renee Street
09h40	10h05	Brazilian children living with informal working families - the occupational exposure in the home environment	Dr Kelly Polido Kaneshiro Olympio
10h05	10h30	Lead (Pb) exposure in South Africa	Prof Angela Mathee
10h30	10h55	Mining and health intervention study: protocol	Charlotte Mokoatle
10h55	11h20	NIOH: Occupational Health training and research	Nisha Naicker
11h20	11h45	Q&A	Dr Renee Street
11h45	12h00	Closing	Dr Renee Street

The mini symposium will be of interest to academics, researchers, government officials and postgraduate students. Refreshments will be served from 9h00.

Please RSVP by Friday 9 December 2022 to Dineo Email: dineo.hlagala@mrc.ac.za

For more information, please call Dineo (012 339 8530).